WILLIAM M. LAWLER.

We herewith present the picture of William M. Lawler, whose speech, published in last week's edition, created such favorable comment. Mr. Lawler was born in 1860 at Huntington, Ind., and pursued his earlier studies in the Catholic and public schools of that city. Later he entered St. Joseph's College, Bardonia, where he spent three years. Leaving there he went back to his native city, teaching in both the public and Catholic schools. But Mr. Lawler, being ambitious, wished for a wider field, and came to Louisville, where he might have better chances for achieving success. His first business experience was with the then popular Musselman Tobacco Company, with whom he remained for six years, being their city salesman and collector, and having in charge the cities of Louisville, New Albany and Jeffersonville. His term of employment and the very complimentary recommendations from the firm when they dissolved partnership are the best evidences in what esteem he was held by that firm. The idea of opening a tobacco business for himself was suggested, which he did in the beginning of 1887. Later on he added the manufacture of cigars, and the popularity of his well-known brand, Lawler's Monarch, is sufficient proof that he is possessed of that energy and pluck which eventually wins success. Mr. Lawler also takes a great interest in fraternal societies, being, we understand, a member of the Knights and Ladies of Honor, Heptasophs, Young Men's Institute and Ancient Order of Hibernians, before whom he is often called upon to make a talk or to take a leading part in some good work, and it is unheard-of where he failed to answer the summons when it in any way promoted the good of the cause.

DIVISION JOTTINGS.

Division No. 1 had a well attended meeting this week.

A desire is manifested to hear from the Ladies' Auxiliary in this column.

The Hall Board met last evening and reported everything in first-class condition.

An elegant prize is offered to the member bringing in the greatest number of applications.

The attendance at the meetings of the various divisions is large and indicate a great interest in the order in this city.

The Hibernian Knights are drilling regularly, preparatory to their appearance at the coming lawn fete of Division No. 3.

James Cusick, of Division No. 1, has been transferred from No. 11 to No. 3 engine house, and he will now be seen at the meetings.

Division No. 3 is doing all that can be done to prepare a pleasant time for all who attend the lawn fete to be given at Lion Garden.

All the divisions are receiving applications for membership at each meeting, and it is predicted that the membership will be largely increased this summer and fall.

The young ladies who are candidates for prizes at the coming Hibernian entertainments are hard at work, and some of them are as shrewd and skilled as a politician.

There is a heated though friendly rivalry between a number of young men who are backing their lady friends for prizes, and the contest is being watched with much interest.

There was a large attendance at the last meeting of Division No. 1 in Jeffersonville. This is a large and prosperous division, where visitors from Louisville are warmly welcomed.

Division No. 5 announces its great social and picnic to take place at Lion Garden, and the members of its amusement committee are preparing a fine programme for the occasion.

It is rumored that Patrick B. Howard, a popular member of Division No. 4, contemplates associating a partner in business with him. The new member is a fascinating brunette of the South End.

P. R. O'Keefe, formerly of Richmond, Va., now holding a responsible position with the Finzer Tobacco Company, has connected himself with Division No. 2. He is very favorably impressed with Louisville.

Division No. 1 at Jeffersonville is making arrangements for a great outing and excursion for its members and friends. The various divisions of this city are being invited, and the indications are that this will prove a most pleasant and successful reunion of Hibernians. Nothing will be left undone to make the event a memorable one.

No. 5's committee on arrangements held a meeting Wednesday evening and heard reports which were of a very flattering nature. It was reported by those having in charge the sale of tickets that everything is moving along in such a way that the picnic and social should prove a success. No. 5 has always been particularly fortunate in giving entertainments. Those who attend are always pleased with the character of the entertainments.

Dr. Charles M'Carthy, of Sydney, New South Wales, is one of the most patriotic Irishmen in the colony. He is heart and head in the movement to commemorate the insurrection of '98 in the land 'neath the Southern Cross, and the demonstration organized under his Presidency to honor the ashes of Michael Dwyer, the Wicklow rebel, who found a grave in Australia, was one of the most imposing and significant witnessed in that far off country. The vault where now rests all that is mortal of the brave Irish outlaw lies beneath a splendid marble monument, which cost just £2,000. Dr. M'Carthy also organized a Ladies' 98 League, which found employment for energies of many patriotic women of Irish birth and descent.
